What Kind of Preaching Is Needed?

Ken Weliever

The above question is raised with great forethought and care, realizing that many are “expert” regarding the type, manner, and method of preaching that is most needed. Nevertheless, we feel obligated to present what the New Testament (what else) teaches regarding preaching.

We need preaching that is based on “the faith” (Gal. 1:10). Although it is popular to philosophize and speak about “ideals”, the apostles spoke God’s truth and not their own whims and fancies. We need preachers who will appeal to the word of God and base their conclusions on scripture.

We need preaching that is bold and aggressive. Peter prayed that God would grant them the courage to speak “with all boldness” (Acts 4:29). Paul and Barnabas found it necessary to speak boldly to the Jews in Antioch of Pisidia (Acts 13:46). Today preachers need to boldly and aggressively declare God's word to men.

We need preaching that is unmistakably clear and intelligible. When Paul preached he “reasoned” and “proved” his points (Acts 17:2; 18:4). Generalizing and speaking in sixteen syllable words was unheard in Bible times. Some folks won't like it, but preachers need to be clearly understood in this modern era also.

We need preaching that is controversial, meeting error face to face. In the early days, there was a great deal of disputing and debating (Acts 6:9; 9:28; 17:17). Some today would have liked New Testament preaching a little bit! The modern cry is: “Don’t call names; don’t condemn; just preach constructive lessons.” The problem is that many weaklings are afraid to defend the Truth and are worried about the loss of friendships and popularity.

We need preaching that is motivated by love for truth and for the lost souls of men and women (2 Thessalonians 2:10-11). If we are really concerned about the lost we will cease to “soft-peddle” the gospel, but will truly “tell it like it is.”

The world needs preaching and the church needs preaching, but not the kind some want. Yet, if all preachers would follow the apostolic examples, then everyone will get the kind of preaching that is sorely needed.

Hatred – A Manifested Work of the Flesh

Stacy Crim

Listed among the number of manifestations of the works of the flesh in Galatians 5:19-21 is hatred. Paul assures the churches of Galatia that the strong feelings of animosity towards another will assuredly keep one from inheriting the kingdom of God.

Hatred is a very strong emotion. Murder is often preceded by one's hatred for the victim. Envy is often sparked by one's intense animosity towards their enemy's fortune. Irrational behavior is often prompted by one's inability to deal with this very real emotion. This emotion however, like all other "works of the flesh" must be controlled.

One Biblical example is that of the story of Joseph and his brothers. Jacob deeply loved Joseph and gave his son a coat of many colors (Genesis 37:3). When his brothers saw that their father loved Joseph more than them "they hated him and could not speak peaceably unto him." (Genesis 37:4) Their jealousy sparked an intense animosity towards Joseph.

Joseph dreamed dreams and told them unto his brothers and the Bible says they "hated him yet the more" (Genesis 37:5, 8, 11). Their hatred for Joseph was growing and when the opportunity presented itself they conspired to kill him. Yes murder is often preceded by hatred (Genesis 37:20).

You know the story, Rueben delivers Joseph out of the hands of his brothers and suggests they throw him in a pit. While Rueben is away traders on their way to Egypt pass by and Joseph is traded for twenty pieces of silver. What to do next, Joseph was gone and an explanation must be given unto their father. Their plan was to dip Joseph's coat in the blood of a young goat and bring it unto their father. Now what could possibly cause such irrational behavior? Hatred. They hated Joseph and would do anything to rid themselves of him.

Hatred is most definitely a work of the flesh. It broods all kinds of evil. One must "put off anger, wrath, and malice and put on the new man (Colossians 3:8). And one must "let not the sun go down upon your wrath." The longer Joseph's brothers stewed over their dislike for Joseph the stronger grew their hate.

"But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law" Galatians 5:22-23.

Are You Compassionate?

Nathaniel Outcalt

People in need don't always ask for help. That may seem strange but it's often true. Sometimes people are ashamed to ask for help. At other times people may not be sure how to ask. Even worse, maybe they don't ask because they believe they already know the answer they're going to receive from you. Are you willing to help others? Are you compassionate?

One of the wonderful characteristics of God is His great compassion. Lamentations 3:22-23 tells us, "Through the Lord's mercies we are not consumed, because His compassions fail not. They are new every morning; Great is Your faithfulness." God is full of compassion. Mercy and pity convey the same idea. God loves us and wants to help us. As Christians we need to show God's compassion in our daily lives.

Compassion is seeing a need and doing something about it. Seven times in the Bible "saw" and "compassion" are mentioned together in the same verse. We need to realize this important connection. We must see the needs all around us and be moved with compassion to help others.

The parable of the Good Samaritan in Luke chapter 10 demonstrates this fundamental truth. As you may recall, Jesus tells this parable to a lawyer who knew the greatest commandment, "You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your strength, and with all your mind, and your neighbor as yourself." However, the lawyer who knew the commands of God, like many today, sought to justify himself for his failure to follow God's law.

Many today see needs and don't offer to help in any way or make excuses as to why they can't help. They are just like the priest and Levite who passed by without offering assistance to the weary, wounded traveler. However, when the Samaritan saw him, he had compassion (Luke 10:33). He went on to do everything he could to meet the robbed, wounded man's needs. In this case the person in need literally couldn't ask for help but his problems were readily apparent.

In the end even the lawyer who tested Jesus could not miss the point of the story. He saw clearly that the one who showed mercy and compassion was the one who understood God's love and acted like a neighbor (Luke 10:36-37). Do you understand God's love? If so, then you'll begin to see people in need, have compassion and take the time to help them.

"And Jesus, when He came out, saw a great multitude and was moved with compassion for them, because they were like sheep not having a shepherd. So He began to teach them many things." Mark 6:34 (NKJV).
