No More Walls

Buc Chumbley

“And as He passed by, he saw Levi the son of Alphaeus sitting at the receipt of custom, and said unto him, Follow me. And he arose and followed him” (Mark 2:14).

Christ call of Levi to be one of His apostles was a bold and daring move. Levi, whom we know better as Matthew, was a tax collector. This fact alone made him loathsome to most of his countrymen. To a Jew, Levi was a traitor, a collaborator, a facilitator. He would have been viewed as someone who made peace with the enemy. But what made the call of Levi even more extraordinary was that he was picked to join a group that included a zealot by the name of Simon (Luke 6:15). It was the sworn duty of zealots to kill traitors like Levi. So why would our Lord do such a thing? Why would He bring together two men like Levi and Simon who were obviously on opposite ends of the political spectrum? I believe, to demonstrate to one and all that the kingdom of God was a dominion without walls.

Men are constantly erecting barriers between themselves and others. These walls are constructed along racial, ethnic, cultural, political, and economic lines. Whatever they may be, men are continuing building walls to separate themselves. But under the rule of Christ there are no more walls of separation. All barriers that divide men are destroyed.

In Isaiah 11:6-9, the prophet spoke about a time when natural enemies, wolves and lambs, snakes and children, would all live together in peace. The glue that would bind these former enemies together is the love that comes from Jesus Christ.

Christ takes even the most disparate groups and brings them together into one body. There is no better illustration of that great truth than what He did with Levi and Simon. If they couldn't live and work together in peace, what hope would there be for others to unite? Praise God they did!

“Where Are The Headquarters of the Church?”

Collin R. Stringer

Brooklyn, New York. Salt Lake City, Utah. Rome, Italy. These are answers that some give when asked about the location of the headquarters of the church. How would God answer?

An organizations headquarters are the center of its operations from which orders are issued. So, where is the center of operations for the Lord’s church? From where does the church receive its orders? If we answer these questions correctly, we have found the headquarters of the church.

As we go to the Bible for answers, we must understand how the word church is used. It may refer to the universal church which is the body of saved people in fellowship with Christ (Hebrews 12:23; Ephesians 5:23). It is composed of individuals, not churches, from all over who are known only to the Lord (2 Timothy 2:19). A local church, on the other hand, is a group of believers in a location who are in submission to and in fellowship with one another (Ephesians 1:1; 5:21).

When some refer to the church, they are thinking of neither the universal church nor a local church, but rather a group of local churches which is distinguished from other groups by their common name and shared beliefs. Such a church is a denomination, something foreign to God’s word. We can easily identify the headquarters of denominations. In the cities mentioned above, you can locate the center of operations for certain denominations. In these organizations leaders will legislate and pass on decisions they expect to be accepted and followed in their churches.

When we speak of the headquarters of the church in scriptural terms, though, it is the universal church that is in view. The Bible tells us how this church is organized. Read carefully: “He raised Him (Christ) from the dead, and seated Him at His right hand in the heavenly places, far above all rule and authority and power and dominion, ... And He put all things in subjection under His feet, and gave Him as head over all things to the church ...” (Ephesians 1:20–23).

Christ alone is head of His church. He rules His people from His throne. While earthborn men wield their power and authority from denominational centers,

Christ reigns far above their ignoble dominion. Isn’t it clear that the center of operations for the Lord’s church is His throne? Since Christ has issued orders from there, the headquarters of the church cannot be on earth—it is in heaven.

Since “all things” are under Christ’s rule, men on their own have no authority. The Lord, though, has authorized elders to rule over local churches (1 Timothy 5:17). Their oversight is limited to the local church which they shepherd (1 Peter 5:2). They do not legislate for the church; they lead them as they themselves are led by Christ’s word. In His word we find no organizational hierarchy between Christ our head and the local congregation. Each local church, apart from any human institutions, is authorized to do things such as appointing their servants, ordering their worship, and controlling their finances (Acts 6:3; 1 Corinthians 14:40; Acts 11:27–30).

Not only do earthly church headquarters violate the law of Christ, but by regulating congregations they also impinge upon the privilege of the individual Christian to walk by his own faith. Paul writes, “We live for the Lord ... we are the Lord’s” and, “The faith which you have, have as your own conviction before God” (Romans 14:8, 22). Each one who is the Lord’s should be living by his own faith, not by the dictates of a denominational head. The church belonging to Christ is indeed a “priesthood of believers” who get direction directly from their head through His word.

The headquarters of one denomination makes this bold claim about itself: “It is God’s sole collective channel for the flow of Biblical truth to men on earth” (The Watchtower, July 15, 1960, p. 439). Can we trust the purity of such a flow? When we debate over divisive religious issues, we may be torn and troubled as we seek to know the truth. We should find assurance in knowing that we must not wait upon the ruling of a synod or conference of an earthly headquarters to determine truth for us. We can open our own Bibles, draw our own conclusions, and then walk by our own faith—a faith arising from, and grounded in, the word that flows from our head who reigns in the heavenly headquarters of His church.

Fear Not! Take Courage!

Antoine N. Holloway

In Matthew 14:27, the Bible reads, "But immediately Jesus spoke to them, saying, 'Take heart; it is I. Do not be afraid.'"

A storm rose quickly on the Sea of Galilee, and the disciples were afraid. Although they had seen Jesus perform many miracles, the disciples feared for their lives, so they turned to their Savior, and He calmed the waters and the wind.

Sometimes, like the disciples, we feel threatened by the inevitable storms of life. However, when we are afraid, we too can turn to Christ for courage and for comfort. Down through the centuries, in times of trouble and trial, God has brought courage to the hearts of those who love Him. The Bible is filled with assurances of God's help and comfort in every kind of trouble.

Courage is the ability to be strong in trust, in conviction, in obedience. To be courageous is to step out in faith – to trust and obey, no matter what.

Yes, there will be times when we will face disappointments and challenges that leave us worried and afraid. Nevertheless, the next time we find ourselves afraid, remember that the One who calmed the wind and the waves is also our Savior and our God. Let us seek strength from Christ. Let us remain mindful who our God is. Let us share in the words of the Psalmist in Psalm 27:1 "The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The Lord is the stronghold of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?"

Remember that the ultimate battle has already been won at the cross of Jesus. As Christians, we can live courageously in the promises of our Lord and we should.

Updates:

Mildred Lambert continues to recover from her fall...
...Tracy Hodges, Paul & Dale Adcock's daughter, took her last treatment this week.

OUT OF TOWN: The Bradleys: Steve & Marilyn are in Houston, Texas.... Jim Whitt has been in Boston, Massachusetts this week with his work.

ELVIN STOFFREGEN (1920–2018): It is with sadness that we note the passing of brother Elvin Stoffregen this past Monday evening. Brother Stoffregen was a longtime member of the Market Street church. He began attending Market Street in about 1940 when he moved here to work in the CCC camp in Athens. After moving here, Elvin married Katherine Clanton and they were great encouragers in the work. For several years Elvin served as a deacon of the church here. He was a humble servant and loved the Market Street church. We have missed him since he moved to Tennessee a couple of months ago. May the Lord bless all the family of brother Stoffregen.

SYMPATHY: We want to express our deepest sympathy to Barbara Carter, Angie Hinkle and Ruby Dean Ezell in the passing of Barbara and Angie's aunt, Ruby Dean's cousin, Winnie Tennison. Winnie was a member of the O'Neal church, but had attended here in the last several years when she was able. Her funeral was Thursday morning at Spry Funeral Home and she was laid to rest in the Athens City Cemetery.

WORK GROUPS: Work Group One will be meeting after our evening service. If you are in group one, remember to meet with your group tonight.
