The Parable of the Growing Seed

David B. Hartsell

The master teacher, Jesus, often presented great truths through the use of parables. Parables are stories designed to teach fundamental spiritual lessons. They are also used to conceal God's will from the closed-minded (Mark 4:11). Each person's ability to accurately interpret God's teachings is first determined by his love for God and His word. If we love unrighteous pleasure more than truth, then God will send a "strong delusion" that will deceive us and ultimately destroy us (2 Thessalonians 2:11-12). Therefore, we must always read the Lord's word with a sincere heart seeking the truth.

Jesus spoke parables about many different things: the leavening of bread, the growth of a mustard seed, a hidden treasure, a pearl of great price, a farmer planting a field, etc. Most of His parables are well known – especially to Christians. However, a few of them are less written about. One example of this is The Parable of the Growing Seed.

The parable begins with a farmer sowing his field. Seed falls into the ground and natural growth process begins. Jesus likens spiritual growth in God's Kingdom to the sprouting of the ear of grain. Does the Kingdom of God here refer to the worldwide spread of God's rule or is it discussing conversion and spiritual growth within a single human heart? The two thoughts are related but it is the later upon which we will focus. The Parable of the Growing Seed presents several lessons relating to spiritual growth and maturity.

A farmer does many things to aid in a bountiful harvest. He fertilizes and waters his field. He constantly pulls out the weeds. Yet, though he does all of this, the farmer knows that he must patiently wait for the sprouting of his crops (James 5:7). It takes time for the growth cycle to complete itself. Similarly, spiritual growth is gradual. Some people expect too much of themselves in regard to spiritual maturity and godly accomplishments. Jesus told Nicodemus that a person must be born again to enter God's Kingdom (John 3:3). This birth comes through the imperishable Word of God (1 Peter 1:23). Every Christian, young and old, is expected by God to develop in knowledge and in the possession of fundamental Christian virtues (2 Peter

1:5-10). This requires patience with us and with other people. Christians, especially new converts, are often frustrated because of their lack of Bible knowledge and meager spiritual strength. Some older Christians are frequently impatient with the spiritual immaturity of younger, weaker brethren. Some Christians should be ashamed of their spiritual immaturity (Hebrews 5:12-14). Many, however, are simply passing through the spiritual growth cycle. People need time to consider the gospel before they obey. Our brethren need time to learn and understand God's word to properly grow up in Christ. Let us be longsuffering with every sincere person. Let us be patient with ourselves.

“Jesus: Human and Divine”

Randy Harshbarger

If Jesus Christ was not who and what He claimed to be, then nothing else matters. If we cannot accept the truth He spoke about Himself, then we have no Savior. If Jesus was not God in the flesh, then those identified as antichrists were correct. But if Jesus was God in the flesh, then we have a Savior. We have a High Priest. There is one in heaven who understands and sympathizes with us as we struggle here on earth.

Some object to the deity of Jesus, appealing to Matthew 24:36. “But of that day and hour no one knows, not even the angels of heaven, nor the Son but the Father alone” (NASV). If Jesus, who claimed to be God, did not know something, then His claim was false (as the argument goes). The comments of Marcellus Kik are helpful. “The exact day and hour of the second coming is unknown not only to mortal man and immortal angels but was unknown to Christ while he was upon earth. As the Son of man, Christ did not seek that knowledge as it had no immediate connection with his work on earth” (4n, Eschatology of Victory, 161). Jesus said that the Father was greater than He was (John 14:28). Jesus did only the Father's will (John 5:30). These statements must be understood as part of Jesus' voluntary humility or emptying Himself as described by Paul in Philippians 2:5-8, rather than some attempt to negate Jesus' power as deity. Jesus in His earthly role appears in a subordinate relationship to the Father. Jesus, possessing the essence of deity, never ceased being who He was. As deity, Jesus suspended the law of gravity; sometimes, though, He rode in a boat (John 6:19; Mark 4:36). Jesus was God in the flesh-divine!

Jesus, without ceasing to be God, took upon Himself human flesh (John 1:14). He was born of a woman (Galatians 4:4). He grew in favor with God and man (Luke 2:52). He suffered on the cross (John 19:28). As a human being, He could be and was tempted (Hebrews 4:14-16).

Jesus was God in the flesh-Deity! He was and remains the Alpha and Omega (Revelation 1:8). The angels worshiped Him (Hebrews 1:6). When men looked upon Jesus, they were looking upon God (Colossians 2:9; 1:19). He was Emmanuel – God with us!

Paul said: "And by common confession great is the mystery of godliness: He who was revealed in the flesh, Was vindicated in the Spirit, Beheld by angels, Proclaimed among the nations, Believed on in the world, Taken up in glory" (1 Timothy 3:16). Without question, Christianity is tied to the proposition that Jesus Christ, the eternal Word, was made flesh – God in the flesh. The claims Jesus made concerning His deity are testified as true by His Holy Spirit. The angels of heaven were interested in His work on earth (Matthew 4:11). Christ was preached to the Jew first and then to the Gentile. The preaching of Christ's word produced faith in Him as Savior. Can we explain it fully? No! Can we accept it completely? Yes!
